Jo's Notebook

There's so much to say and so little time to say it in that I'm going to wait until next week to suggest to you how to build a new "anything" . . . we're still celebrating over the victory.

I was only kidding, Chet!

I really ought to write and tell Chet Huntley that I was only kidding. I said Chet's job was in jeopardy when R. Paul finished with high grades for his NBC internship at Northwestern.

Our boy graduates from Murray in June, but after that he has a tour of military duty before he strikes out into the world of radio, TV and newspapering. So Chet really shouldn't have been so hasty about looking for another job.

And of course I'm kidding about all this too!

We shall miss this fabulous team of news commentators. Besides who's going to say goodnight to David Brinkley now.

Moratorium Due Against Congressmen!

I don't know how you felt about it, but I think that the peaceful moratorium on October 15 was a good thing. Although President Nixon said that the protest would not have any influence at all on the course of the Vietnam war, it seems to me that a mighty hopeful sign for a massive withdrawal is in the works.

There's nothing wrong with dissent, as long as it is meaningful to the person involved. And as for unrest among the young people, that's something else again.

It's for sure the old folks have gotten things in a kind of a sorry mess.

Besides politicians are tone deaf to anything but the sound of dissent among the voters.

Now if somebody would come up with a significant demonstration to scare the influence-peddling Congressmen in Washington, we might get something really great going for us.

Do you know that of all the bills that have been introduced in Congress, and even more studied in committee, only one bill has been passed and acted upon in this session.

You know what it is? A salary increase for the members of Congress.

Followed The Mothballs!

I've never been able to figure out how or when the custom started, but it IS a custom of long standing.

Have you noticed that when a fairly large group of men and women get together, at any kind of an affair, that instinctively the women all gather in one group and the men in another? Kind of odd, isn't it?

Never has it appeared more so than at a meeting of the Banana Festival Board at the Holiday Inn last Thursday.

The tables were set in a "U" shape. When I got there most everybody else was already there, but there was the custom in motion again. All the female members of the board were seated at one table, and all the men at another, and the center table was deserted except for secretary Evelyn Dixon.

I teased Charles Fields about the matter and he quickly remarked that there was no attempt at segregation and gave this classic answer for himself.

"I got my Fall suit out of storage today. When I walked in I smelled more moth balls and I just followed the scent. And that's where all the men were who were wearing Fall suits for the first time like I am," he said.

Something of a quick-witted fellow, I'd say.

Small World Again!

When Paul and I went to Nashville a couple of weeks ago to attend a meeting of the Pan-American Club, we were on our way out of town and decided to have the car washed before we left.

Just as our car came out of that monster that washes, cleans inside, and waxes the car in about five minutes, we heard a knock on the window and heard a hearty "hello."

It was Billy Hill, Exie's fine young man. Billy lives in Alabama, but travels in the Nashville territory. When he saw the Fulton, Kentucky license plate he nearly flipped and just wanted to see anybody from the dear, ole home-town.

The Proposed New High School

Dedication, Open House To Be Sunday

Dedication ceremonies followed by an open house have been scheduled by the Pastor and congregation of St. Edward's Catholic Church Sunday afternoon, October 26th for the recently-completed addition to the church on Eddings Street in Fulton.

A dedication Mass at 2:00 p.m. will be celebrated by the Most Reverend Henry J. Soenneker, Bishop of Owensboro. Open house will follow Mass about 3:30 p.m. in the newly-completed church lower level. The public is cordially invited to attend either or both, and to see the new building.

The new addition to St. Edward's joins the original church structure which was built in 1932 and has served Catholics in this area since that time. Through the years, the congregation has maintained a steady growth, and two years ago, because of need for more room, an addition was begun to the front of the original building to double the size of the sanctuary, construct a new altar, and nearly triple the seating capacity. The enlarged sanctuary is carpeted, air-conditioned, and a full-width lower level basement affords an area for future social activities.

Santa Claus Plans Another Visit Overseas

Operation Santa Claus will be sponsored this year by the American Legion Auxiliary, Marshall Alexander Post No. 72, with Mrs. Joe Holland serving as general chairman.

Headquarters for receiving gifts and names of servicemen will be the Chamber of Commerce. The operation will start on Monday, October 27, and the deadline for shipping packages is November 8.

Anyone wishing to make a contribution or send names of servicemen in Vietnam should send them to Operation Santa Claus, c/o Chamber of Commerce, Fulton, Ky.

Lion's Club Minstrel On November 3-4

The annual Lions Club Minstrel Show for 1969 will be presented by the Fulton Lions Club on Monday and Tuesday nights, November 3 and 4, at Carr Auditorium.

This show, with the cast made up of local business and professional men has always been popular in the Twin Cities and is the big money raising project of the Fulton Lions Club. The funds are used for improvements at City Park.

Specialty numbers by various members of the cast, instrumental numbers, dances and jokes all will provide an entertaining, fun-filled evening for all ages to enjoy. The always popular "Ink-Smeared" are back as are the Hailey Brothers, Mrs. Ron Laird, and the "Dancing Darlings" of the Joy White Studio.

Instrumental numbers include Charles Wade Andrews on the trumpet and Herbie Cathey on Sax, Lamon Kilzer and Denzie Lohaus sing and play electric guitars.

Solos will be sung by Vyrion Mitchell and Charles Gregory.

Accompanists are Mrs. L. C. Logan at the organ, Mrs. Milford Jobe, piano, Charles Andrews, bass, and Billy Stem,

Art Guild To Add Rich Asset For Seeking New Industry

There are many component parts that make up for a good image of a progressive community.

Chief among them are the cultural and artistic advantages available to adults and young people alike.

A giant step forward is being made today in that direction with the announcement by Mrs. Hendon Wright that the twin cities will soon have a fully accredited Art Guild.

While an Art Guild may have the connotation to some people of an organization of brush and easel artists, the more realistic view is that of a group of people joined together to bring cultural advantages and artistic stimulation to a community as a vital asset and add impetus to the efforts to bring industry to Fulton.

With this aspect of community development as a guideline, interested citizens, civic leaders, civic and cultural club presidents, educators and Banana Festival board members are urged to attend a meeting at the Woman's Club Monday night, October 27 to discuss the broad activities planned by the organization.

William Hull, executive director of the Kentucky Arts Commission and Jim Edgy, assistant director, will be in attendance to discuss future programs available to local citizens through the Commission.

Dancers were brought to this year's annual Banana Festival. The Commission defrayed a major portion of the Hampton fee, and financed the entire appearance of the Berea Dancers.

participation will be received in the future from the Tennessee Arts Commission.

"The formation of the Fulton, Kentucky-South Fulton Tennessee Art Guild opens up unbelievable avenues of co-operation to expand the program of the International Banana Festival," Mrs. Wright said today.

"The Hampton and Berea Dancers appearances here gave real impetus to the success of the Banana Festival this year. A large gathering Monday night will indicate to the officials of the Commissions, both in Kentucky and Tennessee, that our area is a worthwhile proving ground for the expansion of artistic endeavors in the grass roots regions," she said in revealing her long efforts to amalgamate the two State agencies in taking part in the cultural availabilities to the twin cities.

Last Saturday Mrs. Wright conferred with Norman Worrell, executive director of the Tennessee Arts Commission at the National Folk Festival in Knoxville. A dynamic and talented administrator, Mr. Worrell recently met in Washington with U.S. Senators and Congressmen from Tennessee to review the accomplishments and goals of the Tennessee Arts Commission.

Article By Washington Reporter Makes It Clear Cooper "No" Candidate For Governor

By WARD SINCLAIR
Courier-Journal & Times Staff Writer

WASHINGTON — Two words — forget it — sum up the wishful rumor that keeps raising John Sherman Cooper's name as a Republican gubernatorial candidate in Kentucky.

The senator from Somerset is making it plain to any and all who ask that he is absolutely, under any conditions, not even considering the possibility.

People around here who've learned to take the senator at his word express surprise that the political dream-makers in Kentucky continue to drop Cooper's name as a gubernatorial possibility.

As a long-time Washington observer of Kentucky politics put it the other day: "Governors become senators; senators don't become governors."

Of course, A. B. (Happy) Chandler was an exception to that rule, having become governor after serving in the Senate. In Cooper's case everything seems to dictate against his becoming a similar exception.

Yet the suggestion won't go away. The latest to talk about it out loud was Gov. Louie B. Nunn, who recently said he "wouldn't be disappointed" if Cooper made the race in 1971.

THERE ARE plenty of reasons to guess why Nunn wouldn't be disappointed. Cooper's vote-getting facility, his prestige and his ability might give the Republicans their first back-to-back governors in this century.

It also might help Nunn's own career. Cooper's term expires in 1972, but he could run for governor without giving up his seat. If elected governor, Cooper could then appoint Nunn to fill out his Senate term.

So the theory goes.

Cooper smiles bemusedly when the subject is broached. He expresses a little puzzlement that the Kentuckians who press him about the governorship don't understand that his "no" means no.

In a recent conversation he noted that just days before, a delegation of Kentuckians had been in his office, again trying to get him interested in their idea.

"These fellows aren't thinking of me... they're thinking of the party. They would like to have two Republican governors in a row," said the senator.

He told them no, of course, again emphasizing that the reason he announced more than two years ago his decision not to seek re-election to the Senate was that he felt it would be time to give way to younger men.

The senator was 68 last August. He will be 72 when his term expires in 1972. His health is reported to be good, but he tires under the fast pace of his work in the Senate.

COOPER continues to hold steadfastly to his decision not to run again. Since he made the announcement he has gone out of his way on a number of occasions to repeat, without prompting, that he intends to stick by his word.

The men who work closely with Cooper here think he would be an ideal candidate for some type of diplomatic position when he concludes his term as a senator.

His interest in foreign affairs, the respect with which he is regarded here and abroad and his reputation as a cool thinker make that an interesting possibility.

Cooper acknowledged that this would indeed be an interesting possibility, indicating that he would seriously weigh any such offer.

THE SENATOR said he was flattered that the party faithful in Kentucky thought enough of him to lift a trial balloon on his behalf for 1971. He said he would wait a few months before deflating the balloon once and for all.

Meanwhile, Cooper added, it is probably time for the party to start thinking about some other potential candidates in the state. He noted accurately that there are few, if any, prime young possibilities being talked about as successors to Nunn.

For those who like to speculate on these things, an interesting thought is that political conditions naturally might be such by 1971 or 1972 that Cooper could be persuaded to try to remain in the Senate.

Should the Republicans win a majority in the Senate next year, Cooper would be in line for chairmanship of the Public Works Committee, which in recent years has assumed an increasingly important role as a shaper of social legislation.

And under those and other conceivable conditions, Cooper might be under considerable pressure from the White House and his GOP colleagues in the Senate to go for re-election.

But then again, the man said "no," didn't he?

FACTS AND OPINIONS

According to the Public Service Company of Colorado, "The world's food production will have to be increased two and a half to three times in the next 30 years to feed a population expected to double in that time. This warning came in a recent report from the President's National Advisory Commission on Food and Fiber. The increased production would be attainable, some experts believe, if other areas of the world could achieve a level of productivity approaching that of U. S. agriculture. On six per cent of the world's tillable land, American farmer's produce, among other things, over 21 per cent of the world's meat supply, 27 per cent of the oats, and 48 per cent of the corn."

Lieutenant Colonel Daniel G. Rody, Division Commander of the Oregon-Idaho Division of The Salvation Army, remarked that, "A noted playwright said once: 'From the actions of people, it seems as if this planet must be the insane asylum for some other world.' While that is an extreme statement, it seems at times as if it comes close to home."

Representative M. Gene Synder from Kentucky says: "There are many areas where the government is in competition with private business. Business pays taxes and operates on a profit. The government does neither and thus costs are high — subsidized — and small business people often are forced out of business with their own tax money."

MAKING A MAN

Hurry the baby as fast as you can,
Hurry him, worry him, make him a man.
Off with his baby clothes, get him in pants,
Feed him on brain foods and make him advance.

Hustle him, soon as he's able to walk,
Into a grammar school; cram him with talk.
Fill his poor head full of figures and facts,
Keep on a-jamming them in 'til it cracks.

Once boys grew up at a rational rate,
Now we develop a man while you wait,
Rush him through college, compel him to grab
Of every known subject a dip and a dab.

Get him in business and after cash,
All by the time he can grow a mustache.
Let him forget he was ever a boy,
Make gold his god and its jingle his joy.

Keep him a-hustling and clear out of breath,
Until he wins - nervous prostration and death.

BY LUCY DANIEL

ENEMIES OF THE PERMANENT THINGS, by Russell Kirk. This is a book about modern flaws — and about norms, the standards by which we live. This author exercises the modern demons and shows us the road to a recovery of norms in art, literature and politics. He says, "A norm means an enduring standard. It is a law of nature, which we ignore at our peril."

THE ORIGINS OF GROWTH OF ARCHAEOLOGY, by Glyn Daniel. During approximately the last three centuries, archaeology has evolved from treasure hunting and the quaint speculations of antiquarians into a meticulous discipline, absorbing techniques from other sciences in order to abstract the maximum of information from the least fragment of evidence. This book vividly illustrates the dramatic development of this subject.

THE DEVIL IN HARBOUR, by Catherine Gavin. An exciting and romantic novel about World War I which culminates in that most controversial of sea battles, the Battle of Jutland. The scene shifts from P land. The scene shifts from Petrograd to London, Aberdeen to Scapa Flow, spinning a web of conspiracy fabricated by the German master spy, Karl Ritter.

HAUNTINGS, by Henry Mazzeo. These tales are all in the best tradition of the supernatural story — authentically eerie, but more about the human spirit than about spooks and specters. None of these stories is a spoof, but a comic and undercurrent accompanies the chills in some. Altogether, they represent a rich vein of British and American imaginative fiction.

TAPS FOR PRIVATE TUSSE, by Jesse Stuart. This is a very American sort of book, as deeply rooted in our soil as Huckleberry Finn... yet it has a universal appeal that transcends nationality. It is warm-hearted, vigorous, and honest; its characters are lusty and genuine; and its dialogue is a delight to read.

THE ROYAL FAMILY, by Ralph White. In keeping with the royal tradition of reticence, less is known — really known — about Elizabeth II than about any other comparably famous personage in the entire world. To most people, the daily life behind the gates of Buckingham Palace is a complete mystery. Now for the first time, in this book, the Royal Family comes alive.

THE KING'S PLEASURE, by Norah Lofts. A great historical novelist focuses her talents on Katharine of Aragon, the proud, pious, passionate woman who was Henry VIII's first wife. She describes the happiness of the early years of their marriage and the birth of their daughter, Mary, and with dramatic poignance, she portrays the lonely, tormented life Katharine was later forced to lead.

SOURCES FOR THE HISTORY OF THE SCIENCE OF STEEL, by Cyril Stanley Smith. As modern chemistry and physics began to grow, scientists looked at the artisan's practice and found much on the nature and behavior of matter that posed problems for their philosophies. The papers in this book, cover that period when people who were part scientist, part industrialist, first came to learn clearly that the properties of iron and steel depend on their chemical composition and internal structure.

THE HOUSE ON THE STRAND, by Daphne du Maurier. Set in the wilds near Cornwall's seascattered coastline, this book concerns a young man's experiments with hallucinogenic drugs and his travels back and forth in time to the mysteries of 14th century England. This ancient modern Gothic tale will grip the reader until the last surprising twist in Daphne du Maurier's intricately woven plot of today and yesterday.

HOW DO YOU SPANK A PORCUPINE? by Ronald Rood. Few people would respond gracefully to the idea of feeding and housing a porcupine. But author Rood and his family were different. They were fascinated by all living creatures and had become acquainted with hundreds of them on their hundred-acre spread in Vermont. Still, they had never known a porcupine, at least not intimately, until they encountered Piney.

COLLECTOR'S GUIDE TO ANTIQUE AMERICAN CERAMICS, by Marvin D. Schwartz. If 500 stoneware pitchers were made at the Bennington potteries in 1848 — to vary the old story — then it's a safe bet that 1,000 of them are for sale in antique shops today. The explanation, of course, is that many people believe they can identify unmarked pieces and others make the mistake of taking the word of well-meaning antique dealers who may be no better informed than they are. Here is a book for the inveterate collector, a survey of American ceramics man's experiments with hallucinogenic drugs and his travels back and forth in time to the mysteries of 14th century England. This ancient modern Gothic tale will grip the reader until the last surprising twist in Daphne du Maurier's intricately woven plot of today and yesterday.

Mrs. Clifton Linton entertained her Sunday School class, the Pioneers, Tuesday evening at her home on Cedar Street. A big log fire was built on the lawn and the group enjoyed the evening, roasting weiners and marshmallows. Members and guests attending were: Wanda Holland, Wanda Sue Forrest, LeRoy Sawyer, Bobby Logan, Bobby Bell and Charles Hutchens.

Dr. and Mrs. John Lloyd Jones have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mary Neal, of Fulton and Memphis to Harold H. McRea of Tishomingo, Miss., formerly of Memphis. The marriage will be solemnized November 5 at the Fulton First Methodist Church.

Following a concerted membership drive, 500 citizens in this area were sold a three-attraction concert series ticket. Although soliciting was difficult, enough interest was shown in the project to warrant a greater number of members next year. A gifted pianist, Constance Keene, who has been selected as one of the foremost pianists of this day, will lead off the concert series with her appearance here in middle November.

Austin Springs: Work is progressing rapidly on the new road through here, such as grading and fill-in. The road will have white rock gravel, later to be black-topped, thus making an all weather road which will greatly benefit out-going grain, livestock and other produce.

McConnell: Mrs. James Wilhaucks entertained the ladies of the community with a Stanley party last week.

Mrs. Clint Cornwell, former operator of the store located on the Martin-Fulton highway, formerly known as "The Gables", has recently moved the contents of the store to Sedalia, Mo.

Pilot Oak: Mrs. R. S. Gossam entertained Saturday afternoon at her home with a party for her sons, Jerry and Larry, who celebrated their ninth and sixth birthdays, respectively. The young guests were presented favors and were entertained with games and contests.

Letters Of Interest

Quito, Sept. 15, 1969

Dear and remembered Jo:

I hope that this letter finds you and all of yours in good health. Give my regards and those of my mother to you, Paul, Mary Jo and Paul, Jr. We arrived in Ecuador very well, only very sad at having to leave you. I was so happy in your house, so much so that I did not want to return to my home in Ecuador. By this letter I send you most grateful thanks and all the affection that I have for you.

I arrived in Ecuador on Thursday, the 11th of September, at 7:30 a.m. We had a stopover in Panama and the trip was very good and without incident. As I told you there, I am now at a new job and I am writing this letter during a moment I have at the office.

Since the moment I arrived here in Ecuador, my greatest dream and most fervent desire is to be able to return next year to the United States with a scholarship to study in some university in order to perfect my English. I hope God makes possible this desire.

Nevertheless, I am busy, as are you, but I hope you can take the time to answer this letter, as I shall be anxiously waiting. I hope that we did not disappoint you and that you see me as a daughter, as I see you as true parents.

I beg you give my regards to Mary and tell her that I miss her and especially her rich food, and that I hope to return to see her some day and I hope it will be soon. Give my regard to all the mothers of my friends and especially to the mother of Edwin Rosales, I'm sorry that I cannot remember her last name.

That's all for now, I must go. With many kisses and hugs and all the affection that I have for you.

Your daughter, who always will remember you,

Yolanda

Quito, Sept. 15, 1969

Dear Family:

I hope this finds you in good health and enjoying eternal happiness.

You do not know how difficult, how impossible it is to believe that I have had to separate myself from you, who made us feel so much at home in your home.

In the first place, I wish to extend to you thanks from my parents, who send wholehearted gratitude for all the kindness which you showed me. Possibly you can come to Ecuador and visit Loja, where the doors of our house are open to receive you with the most gratitude and consideration.

I completed the assignment from you written in Spanish and I am doing this so that you may practice Spanish. And after October 1 I am going to learn English so that when you come we can understand better.

I will tell you that next week I will go to Peru to stay a while with all my family and prepare my papers for entrance into the university.

If you write Mary, give her my regards and tell her I remember her well. Special greetings to the family of Mary Jo and affection to the baby. Greetings to all at your house — papa, mama, Paul.

That's all for now, I hope you will answer soon and to see you in this country even sooner. I must go.

Dear Mr. Durbin:

I apologize for being so late but I must thank you for the recognition you gave our company at the Governor's luncheon during the banana festival.

I must admit that I felt a little bit guilty at receiving these honors when we did so little to help. Perhaps next year we will be in a position to help out just a little bit more. This is certainly a worthwhile project.

I thank you again for your consideration and remain

Dear Editor:

We have been sending weekly the names of individuals in your county who have had their licenses suspended or revoked.

Some of the persons listed previously had lost their licenses due to the financial responsibility law... under which it is possible to reinstate a license within one or two weeks. Occasionally, a name would appear in a paper after the person had obtained a new license. No financial responsibility suspensions or revocations will be included in future mailings.

The persons now listed will be those who have suspended or revoked licenses due to driving while intoxicated or through the point system. Under the point system it takes a minimum of three months (first offense) and under the DWI a minimum of six months (first offense) to be reinstated.

We hope this will explain some of the questions you may have about our new program to "Tell It Like It Is." If not, please contact us immediately.

Very truly yours,

Fashion influences the hanging of pictures. As a general rule, pictures are hung lower today than in the past. Pictures which are hung lower are more easily viewed by people who are seated in the room. Usually pictures are hung so that there is less space than the height of the picture between the picture and the piece of furniture over which it is hung.

Pictures need to be hung in relation to something else, a piece of furniture or a furniture grouping. It is best not to hang pictures over taller pieces of furniture. -- Mrs. Mildred W. Potts, La Center, Ky. 42056 Telephone: 665-5671

SELECTING CARPETING FOR YOUR HOME -- Texture and pattern are important in carpet selection. Paneled walls, which produce much pattern as well as darkness, will require a lighter color and more restful pattern in carpeting. A third combination often seen is rough textured tweed or vinyl upholstery draperies. You need some smooth finishes. MONEY MANAGEMENT -- Pressure advertisements make us feel that things we have only a want for are really a need. As a result, most of our income is spent on "impulse" buying. When we see attractive items displayed or advertised that appeal to us, we sometimes go ahead and buy without too much regard for our needs. In order to overcome temptations, to resist buying things we really don't need, and to make money go further, we need a spending plan to help guide us in our spending. -- Miss Irma Hamilton, Courthouse, Mayfield, Ky. 42066 Telephone: 247-2334

A $200 scholarship will be provided by the City National Bank and The Fulton Bank to the contestant chosen as the Junior Miss.

The local winner automatically qualifies for the state pageant, to be held in Louisville sometime in January, where the top award will be a $2000 scholarship. All contestants must be high school seniors between 16 and 19 years old. Each girl will appear three times during the pageant: in an evening dress, in sports attire, and in a talent appearance. The talent appearance may be a dramatic reading, monologue, singing or dancing or a three minute talk on a subject of her choice. Miss Fonda Adams 1968 Fulton County's Junior Miss will crown her successor. Judges for the event are Robert K. Barr, faculty member at Murray State University; Mrs. Charles M. Chaney Sr., English teacher at Mayfield High School, and Mrs. Peggy Canter, manager and fashion coordinator for Vanity Shop, Mayfield. The Accountant will be Bruce Wilson, owner of Wilson Bookkeeping and Tax Service in Fulton.

Mrs. Reams Says Time To Store Bulbs

"Now is the time to plant shrubs, bulbs and seed for many of the spring blooming plants and to dig and store bulbs of gladioli, cannas and many other of the summer blooming plants," was the lesson given by Mrs. Paul Reams, the gardening leader, when the Chestnut Glade Club met at the home of Mrs. V. C. Simpson for the regular October meeting. She also advised that the peonies that were not blooming satisfactorily were most likely to be planted too deep and that they should be moved right away to have blooms next year. The devotion was given by Mrs. Laverne Owensby using the beauty of the present season as her subject. Many sewing ideas were exchanged by the roll call being answered by each telling of a dress that did not fit properly. Mrs. Jimmie Westbrook, the clothing leader, presented Mrs. V. C. Simpson, who demonstrated making a bias scarf made from a straight piece of fabric, and Mrs. Harvey Vaughn, who gave tips on the invisible zippers and the method of putting in zippers by hand which gives more stretch to the garments made from better fabrics. A report was given by those participating in the reading project. The Home Agent, Mrs. Grace, demonstrated several clever Christmas decorations and gift ideas and gave instructions for making these items. Mrs. Danny Wheat, Mrs. J. T. Simpson and Mrs. Charles Barnett were welcomed visitors. The recreation was directed by Mrs. Jeter Wheat. The November meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Myrtle Temple. Visitors are cordially invited.

Margaret Willis, A Name Synonymous With Library Progress In Kentucky

The name Margaret Willis has become synonymous with library progress in Kentucky. As state librarian for over 12 years, she has developed Kentucky's library system into a smooth operation enveloping 95 libraries in 86 counties. "It is the goal of the Kentucky Department of Libraries," said Miss Willis, "to give every interested county a chance to have good, regularly improving public library and bookmobile service as fast and effectively as possible." Other ideas of Miss Willis prove unique when compared to other state library systems. "I think we are the only state with a centralized system of free book selection, cataloging and processing," said Miss Willis. "This multipurpose plan allows the local library to turn over much work to the central Frankfort facility where a trained staff is on hand to select, catalog, process and distribute books, records, pamphlets and framed paintings. Also the centralized system provides for simplified borrowing and lending among all members of each region."

The Frankfort facility has also been organized to process any reference requests on any subject. "Our system allows us to tap the resources of our own State Universities and other larger libraries for any reference department," Miss Willis stated. "This technical service," Miss Willis said, "is mandatory if we wish to lure business into the Commonwealth. A great drawing point for commerce is that business knows they can pick up the phone, call their regional headquarters and receive any technical information locally." The reference system is but one way the state promotes library usage by everyone in the state. Other achievements include the institution of a Kentucky regional facility which handles only Braille and "talking disc" records of books and current magazines. This function was taken over by the state earlier this year from the Cincinnati, Ohio Regional Library which was hard pressed to handle any reference requests on any Kentucky's needs. "Governor Nunn has been very helpful in stimulating progress in the Department of Libraries," said Miss Willis. "He recognized the need for new library buildings and, for the first time, provided an amortization grant of $200,000 annually for new library construction. This annual grant is constructing $6,000,000 worth of new library buildings." Said Miss Willis: "For the first time we have in service two very large bookmobiles holding about 4000 books each, and, continuing support of the bookmobile program has given Kentucky the largest fleet of state owned bookmobiles in the nation."

The state purchases bookmobiles and lends them, free of charge, to the participating counties. The localities must, however, provide for upkeep and service. In the past two years, over $250,000 has been spent by the state on new books for the bookmobiles. Miss Willis, who holds a B.A. degree from Washington University, and a Masters Degree in Library Science, strives for professional excellence in her department. "A good library system must, like any other business, be run professionally, and the library system is becoming increasingly technical and proficient in its operation," she explains. The books and recordings provided for each library and bookmobile participating in the state regional system are carefully selected from the best currently published. They give each library a cultural, informational, educational and recreational collection of which each county can be proud. Among her staff are Mrs. Lucy Chapman, head of the Reference Department, Don Pultz, director of Technical Services, Mrs. Genevieve Livingston, adult book selector, Miss Linda Sherrow, children's librarian, Mrs. Sheridan Clem, Assistant to Pultz, and Kelly Scott Reed, director of Public Relations. Most of these people have obtained a Masters Degree in their fields from departmental scholarships. Over two thirds of the Regional Librarians also hold advanced degrees. An area in which the library is particularly proud is the library "demonstration" program. A demonstration is a case in which the Department of Libraries goes into a county which did not previously have library service and for two years, organizes and runs a good library and bookmobile program. If after the two year trial the local citizens pass some form of support which will assure the continuation of the facility, they are allowed to keep the books, bookmobile, equipment and furniture on permanent loan. In over a dozen demonstrations in the past few years, no county has ever turned down a library.

The Department of Libraries has future plans: "to provide at least minimal service to all 120 counties in the state, as they qualify." "to assist Kentucky's state institutions in providing to patients and inmates library services that can lead to their recovery and rehabilitation." "to employ consultants in different aspects of library service who will offer specialized help in developing new programs." "to develop a plan for a network of library services throughout the state, so all citizens may have their questions answered and their requests filled. To carry out all these plans may take years, but another two years of progress like the last two will certainly bring the benefits of a greatly improved and expanded library service to the large majority of the citizens of Kentucky.

Dear Ann Landers.

Dear Ann Landers: I am very upset over something that happened yesterday. I returned to my car which I had left locked (my invalid child was in it) and I found this note on the front seat: "You ought to be ashamed of yourself. It is just plain ignorant to leave a child in a locked car. I've waited here for half an hour and then I had to leave. You didn't come out even once to see if the child was all right. You are lucky I am not a child molester. You are a monster." The note was signed, "A Passerby."

Ann, the person who wrote that note doesn't know the facts. I care for this child as best I can. She cannot sit up or walk. I must take her everywhere as I have no one to leave her with. She is too heavy to carry so she must be left in the car. I always make sure the car is locked. Sometimes the shopping takes longer than it should, but I must wait in line like everyone else. I can't bring myself to ask for special privileges because I have a crippled child in the car. Please take my part. That note was a wreck out of me. -- Mrs. H. G.

Dear Ann Landers: I am the writer used such language. The person makes a valid point, however. No child should be left alone in a locked car--for any reason. Your letter suggests that you are with this child night and day. For your sake I hope you will get some relief. Do call the Visiting Nurses Association. This wonderful organization can give you the help you need. Dear Ann Landers: I'm not asking for advice. I want to give some. It's to women who hate sex. There are two kinds of frigid wives--those who have 28 kinds of excuses and those who count the cracks in the ceiling. I've been both. My husband never insulted me or threatened to look elsewhere. He just put his arms around me and said, "I know you don't want to be this way and I'm going to help you be different because I love you." He asked me to get professional help. When I said I was too embarrassed he said, "I'll go with you." And he did. His patience and understanding have made all the difference in the world. I'm doing better than I ever dreamed I could and I'm going to keep working at it if it takes 40 years. -- Married to a Prince

Dear Married: Lucky you. Thanks for writing. Dear Mrs. H. G.: You sound like a well-meaning woman who has had more than her share of trouble. My heart goes out to you. You don't deserve to be called a monster and I'm sorry

Bi-Partisan Committee Seeking Support For Annual Legislative Sessions

4 Fulton County News,
Thursday, Oct. 23, 1969

State Senator Richard L. Frymire of Madisonville and State Representative Don Ball, Lexington, have been named to head a statewide bipartisan citizens campaign to seek voter support for annual sessions of the Kentucky General Assembly.

A constitutional amendment providing for annual sessions of the Legislature, plus other reforms, will appear on the general election ballot as Amendment No. 2 on November 4. The citizens group, which is now forming, will be known as The Committee for Amendment No. 2.

The Kentucky General Assembly meets for 60-day sessions every two years, beginning on the first Monday in January in even-numbered years.

Senator Frymire, a Democrat, served on a four-year term in the Kentucky Senate. In the 1968 session, he was elected majority floor leader. Prior to his election to the Senate in 1965, Frymire served two terms in the House of Representatives. In his first term, he was named "Outstanding Freshman Legislator" by the Capitol Press Corps.

A graduate of Centre College and the University of Kentucky Law School, Frymire is a member of a law firm in his home town. He is a former Marine Corps jet pilot and now is a lieutenant colonel in the Kentucky Air National Guard, recently completing 15 months of active duty.

Representative Ball has served six years in the Kentucky Legislature, holding the post of minority caucus chairman in 1966 before moving up to the key position of minority floor leader during the 1968 session. He presently is chairman of the National Republican Legislative Conference.

A graduate of the University of Kentucky, Ball heads a home building firm in Lexington. He was named outstanding young man of Fayette County in 1969.

Ball and Frymire are not seeking re-election, due to what they describe as pressing demands of their time in other areas.

The Committee for Amendment No. 2 is composed of Kentuckians prominent in government, business, academic and civic activities. The committee's aim is to acquaint the public with the "very real need" for annual sessions of the state legislature, according to Frymire and Ball.

The co-chairmen point out that legislatures in 31 states now have some provision for meeting every year, and some are in continuing session, such as Congress. By comparison, only seven states' legislatures met annually in 1950.

Frymire and Ball said they draw upon their personal experiences as state legislators for proof of the need for annual sessions.

"With the ever-increasing pace of the world and the ever-changing federal programs which have so much impact upon Kentucky citizens today, legislators cannot possibly cope with the problems and needs of Kentucky in 60 days every two years."

"If we ever are going to bring government back home, we must begin reassessing the responsibilities on the state level that the federal government has assumed in the existing void created by biennial sessions."

"The Legislature cannot assume its rightful role in the tripartite form of government until it is given the time and tools with which to operate. The Legislature is the only branch of government so directly accountable to the people, and Kentuckians will be the losers until government is brought home," the co-chairmen concluded.

HOW SWEET IT IS! Injured George Rice, football co-captain and All-OVC tackle at Murray State University last season, gets a tender but enthusiastic welcome at the first Murray game from cheerleaders Janie Hills, left, sophomore from Louisville, and Mimi Lester, a junior from Cadiz. Rice, severely injured in an automobile accident late in the spring, is recuperating in a Paducah hospital. His trip to the Murray-Eastern Michigan game was his first time out of the hospital since the accident. Brought to the game by ambulance, he received a two-minute standing ovation from the Murray students upon his arrival. Improving rapidly, he is expected to resume his classes in the spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Palmer have returned home after visiting Lorenzo's brother, Otis Palmer, and wife, in Detroit. While they were there Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hanner visited with them. Mrs. Hanner was formerly Addie Croft. She is a cousin to Mrs. Palmer. They reported a wonderful trip and visit while there.

Mrs. Pearl Rogers, of Fulton, told me Friday that all her children have been home and all were at her place with their families. This was a wonderful time for Mrs. Pearl, having all the children and grandchildren with her at one time. She gave me names and addresses of all, but I misplaced them, for which I am sorry.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Cannon, of Memphis, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Cannon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hillman Collier visited with Mr. and Mrs. Everett Williams a while Sunday evening.

I. M. Jones still remains in the hospital. We hope for him a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Kara Lewis spent Sunday night with Mrs. Wilma Lewis.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Cannon visited children in Memphis the first of the week.

Several from this part of the county attended the Association at Little Zion Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Memories Are Made Of Photographs Like These

He's well and hearty now, but that's Harry (Jack) Roberts in the stretcher on his way to make up his Rotary attendance.

Were these lassies and laddies performing for a political rally or an Army Day parade? Tell us if you know, please.

What do you suppose these ladies were up to? If memory serves we think that's Mrs. Charlie Scates of Martin at left and second from right is Grace Hill Beard, also of Martin.

Remember this Fulton High team? We do. We can even identify a good many of them. Isn't that Donnie McKnight in front?

We know who they are, do you?

Some sports, eh? That's Dee Yates in front. See if you can identify the others.

They look mighty talented to us . . . but who are they?

Remember the "Who Is Mr. Fulton," mystery. That's the News editor at right.

These were the Happy Days. That's Harry Lee Waterfield at far left. Also in the photo are Dan Chandler, Gracean Pedley, Charles Blackburn, John DeMoisey. They were here campaigning for Joe Bates for Senator.

With the Lion's Club Minstrel on its way (Nov. 3 and 4) the photo here is reminiscent of other days.

Deaths

John E. Wright

Funeral services for John Ernest Wright were held Sunday, October 19, in Hornbeak Funeral Home chapel, with Rev. George Comes, minister of the First United Methodist Church, officiating. Burial was in Greenlea Cemetery.

Mr. Wright, 82, died Saturday, October 18, in the McAllister Rest Home in Fulton, following a lengthy illness.

He was the son of the late John and Fannie Landrum Wright, of Weakley County, and was a retired farmer and lifelong resident of this community.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Leon Hutchens, Mrs. Roy Green and Mrs. J. R. Hogan, all of Fulton; two sons, J. Paul Wright of Longview, Washington, and John Ernie Wright of Canton, Ohio; nine grandchildren, fourteen great grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

Randall Pickle

Randall Pickle, a Lubbock, Texas real estate agent, died Saturday, October 18, in a Lubbock hospital, following a long illness.

Funeral services were held Monday, October 20, in Lubbock, with burial in East View Cemetery in Big Spring.

Mr. Pickle, 61, was the son of Mrs. Maud Orr Pickle and the late Arthur Pickle of Big Spring, Texas, formerly of Fulton. He attended school in South Fulton before moving to Texas.

Surviving, in addition to his mother, are his wife, Mrs. Maywood Pickle; one daughter, Mrs. Joan Lewis Holmes of Lafayette, La.; one son, Don Pickle of El Paso, Tex.; one brother J. C. Pickle of Big Spring, and five grandchildren. He was a nephew of Mrs. Lon Pickle and Mrs. C. J. Muzzall, both of Fulton.

Rev. Bobby Copeland filled his appointment at New Salem Baptist Church the past Sunday at 11 a.m. Sunday school is held at 10 a.m. The attendance was up again, both Sunday school and worship hour. The B.T.U. meets prior to evening services.

Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Ray Jones arrived Sunday morning from Akron, Ohio, and are house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Burt Lassiter. They have visited their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Mathis, patients in the Weakley County Rest Home. Freddie has just returned home from his tour of duty in Vietnam and they will reside in Akron.

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Frieleds and son, Kerry, their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Smith, all of Tullahoma, Tenn., have recently returned from Destin and Ft. Walton Beach, Fla. on vacation and some deep-sea fishing. Doyle was the lucky fellow on this trip, catching the largest red snapper. He hit the jack-pot, $44 for his nice catch and, since they dress and freeze all their fish, bring them home for their own freezers. Each day they went out, they pulled in no less than 18 pounds, and last day got 35 pounds. This is true now, and no fish tales.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bynum, of Akron, Ohio, Mrs. Herbert Timmons and Mrs. Irene King of Mayfield, were in the midst last week, and visited their aunt, Mrs. Charlie Vincent, and family. They visited at Acree Cemetery also.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Richmond, Danny Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Berry left Saturday for Knoxville and Erin, Tenn., to attend the wedding of their son, Bobby Rickman and Miss Billie Neas. The vows were pledged Sunday afternoon at 1 p.m. in a beautiful church wedding. After the wedding the couple left for Huntsville, Ala., where Bobby has employment. All good wishes for a long life of happiness.

Funeral services were held at Jackson Funeral Home in Dukedom Sunday at 2 p.m. for Mr. Ed Donaho, 94, who passed away last week in Athens, Ga. after a lingering illness. Rev. Bill Smallings officiated. Mr. Donaho was a former resident of our section of Mayfield, and Sedalia, Ky., but in later years moved to Athens. The deceased is survived by his companion Mrs. Iva Ridgeway, three sons and two daughters, his grandson, nieces and nephews. He was a member of United Methodist Church, Jackson Funeral Home had charge of all the arrangements, with burial in Acree Cemetery. Deep sympathy is extended by all the friends of this area.

DUKEDOM RT. 2

Mrs. O. F. Taylor

Friday night, October 31, the Good Springs Sunday School plans to have a werner roast at the church, weather permitting. Members and friends of the Sunday school are invited.

Mitchell Powell was transferred from Fulton Hospital, to Memphis on Saturday. Tests are being made at present.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Young have moved to the house recently purchased from Marvin Young, the former Ed Cashon place. Leon Bolton has purchased the Sherron place from Carl Young.

Mrs. Mae Byars has been a patient in Fulton Hospital, a week or more.

Mrs. A. C. Bell was carried to Fulton Hospital on Sunday, with an attack of bronchitis. There is a lot of sickness around. Mrs. Grace Armstrong has been very ill at her home, under a doctors care.

Word has been received that Lopez Nelson was knocked out on a parking lot near his home in California and is hospitalized. The particulars of his condition are not known at this time.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bruce on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Grafton Wilner, of Bardwell, Mrs. Mildred King and Sarah, of Fulton, and Mrs. Imogene Choise and Silas Bruce of Paducah.

Good Springs C.P.W. will meet Thursday, October 30, one week early since Synod meets on the regular day. Mrs. T. L. Ainley is program leader and Mary Bruce will give the Bible study.

Mrs. Elizabeth Darnall is still in New Jersey with her sister, Harriett Brazzle, who has recently had surgery.

It is our privilege and pleasure to salute the Business and Professional Women's Club of Fulton-South Fulton upon the observance of National Business Women's Week.

At the same time, we take off our hats to working women everywhere.

Women in this and communities everywhere are a vital force in the strides we have made to make it a better world.

Just between us, we don't see how we could have done it without them.

WE SALUTE YOU

Baptist Convention In November To Draw Many From Churches

The 123rd annual meeting of the Kentucky Baptist Convention, November 11-13 at the Calvary Baptist Church, Lexington, Kentucky will draw hundreds of Baptists from some 2200 cooperating Baptist churches. The Rev. Franklin Owen is pastor of the host church. The Rev. J. T. Miller of Whitesville, Kentucky will preside as president of the convention and will deliver the president's address scheduled at 11:00 a.m. Tuesday, November 11.

The Rev. John R. Claypool, pastor of Crescent Hill Baptist Church, Louisville will deliver the convention sermon. Two pastors from the General Association of Baptists in Kentucky, the Negro convention, will be speaking. The Rev. Homer Nutter, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Lexington, will speak on Tuesday evening. The closing inspirational sermon, 11:15 a.m. Thursday morning will be delivered by the pastor of the Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church, Louisville, the Rev. Frederick G. Sampson.

Distinguished out-of-state speakers are to include: Roy O. McClain, Atlanta, Georgia; Porter F. Routh, Executive Secretary-Treasurer of the Southern Baptist Executive Committee, Nashville, Tenn.; Miss Billy Pate, Woman's Missionary Union, Birmingham, Alabama; Harold K. Graves, President, Golden Gate Seminary, Mill Valley, California; Walker L. Knight of the Home Mission Board, Atlanta, Georgia; George W. Schroeder, Brotherhood Commission, Memphis, Tennessee; Robert S. Denny, Baptist World Alliance, Washington, D. C.; Jesse C. Fletcher, Foreign Mission Board, Richmond, Virginia; and Elmer S. West, Jr., Nashville, Tennessee.

J. M. Boswell, President, Cumberland College is chairman of the committee on order of business and the theme of the three-day convention is "Living the Spirit of Christ."

Annual "Day Church Women Apart" Service United Plan Observance

Day Apart, an annual event of the Paris District Women's Society of Christian Service, will be held Thursday, October 30, at Good Shepherd Church near Murray, Ky., it was announced today by Mrs. L. E. McCord of Cottage Grove, chairman of Spiritual Growth for the district.

Night Apart will be held by the Wesleyan Service Guilds of the district on the same date at 7:30 in the evening at Martin First United Methodist Church.

The theme for both services will be "She Shall be Called Woman," with Mrs. Featherstone Douglass of Dyer, Tenn., as the leader on both occasions.

Day Apart and Night Apart are held during the Call to Prayer and Self-Denial which is observed in each local Methodist Church October 25-31.

The morning program will be held from 9:30 a.m. until noon. The Good Shepherd Church is located five miles south of Murray, Ky., on Highway 121.

Mrs. Douglass, the granddaughter, daughter, and mother of ministers, has served as a Day and Night Apart leader each year since the Memphis Conference Women's Society of Christian Service began observing such a day for spiritual growth.

She has served in many offices on the local level, and for fifteen years has been a district or conference officer. She served four years as Conference Secretary of Spiritual Life, and at present is Parliamentarian of the Dyersburg District.

This year's offering will aid the world-wide work which is carried on through International Mission. Projects include self-development programs in the villages of Guatemala, nutrition education in India, Thailand, Haiti and Guatemala, and a continuation of the youth program for food and development.

Material aids are related to World Community Day. Anyone interested in sewing garments may contact Mrs. Robert Rudolph, telephone - 472-1146 for patterns of garments to sew. Gift certificates ($3 each) make possible a choice of (1) blankets for disaster areas, (2) self-help materials for projects in low-income areas in the United States, (3) self-help projects for overseas, and (4) where most needed when the unexpected happens. Individuals or groups may buy a certificate.

Mrs. Ellis J. Veale, chairman has planned an interesting program. She will present Mr. Vearl Pennington, director of the Community in Action office of the O.E.O. and Mrs. Essie Jennings and Mrs. Brenda Roberts, workers in the Christian Social Service office on West State Line.

All church women in the area are invited to a social hour beginning at 9:30 a.m. at the First Christian Church on Carr St. Friday, Nov. 7. The hour long program begins at 10.

Vets Need Certificate

Veterans enrolling in college for the first time--or who have changed their program or school--must obtain a Certificate of Eligibility from the VA and submit it to the college registrar, who in turn completes it and forwards the Certificate to the VA.

Vets Get Training!

The Veterans Administration estimates that there will be 685,000 veterans enrolled in college or on-the-job training this fall, 125,000 more than participated under the G. I. Bill last year.

LATHAM

By Mrs. W. C. Morrison

Ulysses Dortch is improving at his home in Latham, following a light stroke recently.

Hubert Jackson and W. D. Winstead, of the Jackson Funeral Home in Duketown, made a trip to Athens, Ga., to return the body of Ed Donaho. Funeral services were conducted in the Funeral Home on Sunday at two o'clock, with burial in Acree Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McKnight, of Sheffield, Ala., spent Sunday night with Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Vaughan and attended the funeral of Ralph's father at Dyer, Tenn., on Tuesday.

Mrs. Daniels, the aged mother of Mrs. Hud Wright, is a patient in the Fulton Hospital, suffering from pneumonia and other complications.

Mr. and Mrs. Drew Maloon entertained a friend from Fort Knox over the weekend.

ST. EDWARD'S CATHOLIC CHURCH

Father William Hagman

St. Edward's Catholic Church completed this modern addition to the old church building during the past year, and will have the formal dedication of the new structure Sunday afternoon with Mass celebrated by the Most Reverend Henry J. Soenneker, Bishop of the Diocese of Owensboro, at 2:00 p. m. An open house will follow in the church lower level, and the public is cordially invited to come and attend both.

The new addition joins the front of the old Church, which was erected in 1932, and contains the new altar and a full-sized lower level which is being used for religious instruction and will also be used for social activities of the congregation. The entire interior of the enlarged church is carpeted and air-conditioned. Entrance to the lower level (above) is located on Eddings Street, and three entrances to the Church proper are located adjoining the parking area at the rear. Stairs from the lower level also ascend to the Church sanctuary.

The growing congregation at St. Edward's is proud of their new and spacious building, and cordially invites all denominations to visit with them at any of their services. Sunday Mass each week is celebrated at 10:00 a. m.

ART GUILD

that he would work closely with the twin-city group.

Meanwhile Mrs. Wright is planning to attend the Second State Conference On The Arts sponsored by the Tennessee Arts Commission. The meeting will be held at the Sheraton-Peabody from October 31 through November 2.

Purpose of the Memphis conference is to exchange information on how the various arts can be advanced in both quantity and quality at the community level. The conference also plans to explore specific areas for opportunity and consultation between community organizations, such as the Twin-City Art Guild and the Tennessee Arts Commission.

The knowledge brought back to Fulton by Mrs. Wright should serve as a connecting link between the all-important area of community development and community image.

But bringing nationally known artists to the twin city area is only one of many advantages to accrue from a large and active Art Guild in the twin cities.

Periodic appearances here of other nationally famous and talented artists; a choice of visual arts collections available on loan; lectures; artistic demonstrations; showing of unusual films and slides; reading and music appreciation; workshops of artists with models and still life and poetry appreciation clinics are only a few of the varied programs available through Art Guild membership.

The organization of an Art Guild here did not come about hurriedly, or by happenstance. On April 30, 1969 at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Fulton Woman's Club, Mrs. Wright was selected by the Fulton Woman's Club to serve as chairman of a group of local artists to organize the Fulton-South Fulton Art Guild.

James Edgy of Frankfort, Assistant Director of the Kentucky Arts Commission, attended this meeting. He made many helpful suggestions and told the group of the many benefits that a guild of this type could receive through the Kentucky Commission.

The Board of Directors of the Woman's Club agreed to sponsor the Guild under their Community Improvement program. The sponsorship of the Woman's Club enables the Guild to have their meetings in the Club home.

Mrs. Wright met with members of the Paducah Art Guild where she had many helpful suggestions from Bob Evans as well as other Guild members.

On June 12 an interested group met with Mrs. Wright at her home where they organized a nucleus for the Guild, electing officers, as follows, for the coming year:

President, Mrs. Hendon Wright
Vice-President, Mrs. James Green
Treasurer, Mrs. Jack Allen
Secretary, Mrs. Smith Atkins
Membership Chairman, Mrs. Joe Bennett, Mrs. Aline Homra, Mrs. Wilmon Boyd
Ways & Means Committee, Jerry Atkins, Rev. Gerald Stow
Publicity Chairman, Mrs. Mary Butler, Mrs. Evelyn Dixon
Scrapbook, Mrs. Gene Williamson

Workshops and Exhibits, Rev. Gerald Stow

It is the plan of the Guild to have monthly meetings consisting of varied programs of lectures, exhibits, art instruction, and an annual art show.

Membership in the Guild is open to the public.

Classes of membership are:

Active (exhibiting artists)... $10.00
Associate $5.00
Sustaining $10.00
Patrons $100.00

Patrons include individuals, business firms and groups who recognize the advantage of having an active cultural program at work in the community.

The purpose of the Fulton-South Fulton Art Guild is to encourage art in the twin-cities and to bring together the art workers and those interested in the artistic development of this area.

Kentucky has received national attention on her leadership in support of the arts.

"In our continuous search for industrial development, we are well aware of increasing concern on the part of business management for cultural opportunities in areas considered for expansion. This area will benefit through the Guild's exhibitions and programs," Mrs. Wright said.

"Perhaps the greatest privilege of membership is the personal satisfaction and pride of contributing to our community's involvement in the arts. You can extend the cultural horizon of our community with exhibitions from all periods, both modern and traditional. You can enjoy it and your children will appreciate it," she added.

"The Fulton-South Fulton Art Guild needs your support. Will you be a member, active, associate, sustaining, or Patron of the Arts?" Mrs. Wright said in appealing for a large membership.

Those who have expressed interest in becoming charter members are:

Mrs. Betty Sowell of Clinton, Bill Powers of Hickman, Mr. and Mrs. Parks Weeks, Mrs. W. R. Powell, Mrs. Tillman Adams, Mrs. Bill Adams, Mrs. Patti Forrest, Bob McNatt, Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Kennedy; Also, Mrs. Gaylon Varden, Mrs. Wilmon Boyd, Mrs. Joe Bennett, Mrs. Aline Homra, Mrs. Ray Hunter, Mrs. J. T. Nanney, Mrs. Gene Williamson, Mrs. Hendon Wright, Mrs. Jack Allen, Mrs. Smith Atkins; Also, Mrs. Ernest Fall, Mrs. James Green, Jerry Atkins, Rev. and Mrs. Gerald Stow, Mrs. Mary Butler, Mrs. Evelyn Dixon, Mrs. Clarence Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Westpheling, Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell McDade, Dr. and Mrs. Ward Bushart, Mrs. Raymond Andrus, Mrs. Charles Wade Andrews, Mrs. Philip Andrews.

His grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. James Sr., with whom he made his home, live on Route 1, Hickman.

MILTON, FLA. Oct. 7--Navy Commander Daniel M. Baird, son of Mr. and Mrs. David H. Baird of Highlands, and husband of the former Miss Joan M. McCollum of 803 Walnut St., all of Fulton, Ky., is serving at the U. S. Naval Air Station, Whiting Field in Milton, Fla.

The Whiting Field station provides support facilities for two training squadrons which provide flight instruction for student naval aviators.

With more than 15,000 military and 7,000 civilian personnel, Naval Air Station Whiting Field is one of the largest stations in the Naval Air Basic Training Command.

U. S. ARMY, VIETNAM (AHTNC) - Army Private First Class Jimmy G. Hogg, 20, whose mother, Mrs. Mary L. Hogg, lives on Route 1, Fulton, Ky., was assigned Sept. 17, to the Americal Division in Vietnam, as an infantryman.

NOTEBOOK—

It was a very handsome float you know. But when it got to the bandstand where the judges were sitting it looked like the debris left behind by Hurricane Camille.

Paul was flabbergasted when he saw it. The frame-work was in a shambles, the decorations were shimmering like a feather in a wild breeze and the float itself was going bumpedety, bump all the way in.

Wha happened? The doggone trailer bed that the float was mounted on had a flat tire on the way to McKenzie and the driver, Harvey Jeffrey just plum couldn't get it fixed, that's what happened!

New York Toasts The Mets

Last week, on the day that the Mets won the World Series, I was talking with my good friend Bob Parkinson in New York about the upcoming Miss U. S. A.-Miss Universe pageant in Fulton next Spring.

Bob really gave me a birds-eye view of the excitement in the Fun City after the deciding game. Putting the telephone out of the window, Bob gave me the opportunity to hear the sirens blowing, the horns tootin' and the people rejoicing at the victory.

"It's a greater celebration than when World War II was over," Bob said. That's some celebration I must say. I'm sure glad I happened to be on the phone at that memorable moment.

Those Diet Drinks

In a cartoon appearing in the Louisville Courier-Journal Tuesday morning Hugh Haynie stole the thunder of an item I planned to write about this new ban on diet drinks and foods.

For those of us on strict diets it presents a new and astonishing dilemma.

As a result of some do-or-die orders given me this summer about food intake I was to leave off any kind of sweets or face some serious trouble if I did not comply.

So I switched without even a fight. For the past several months I have been drinking one of the sugar-free colas (and free of almost any taste) to follow doctor's orders.

What I want to know is: Is my first ailment worse because I drank the deadly diet colas, or is my cola worse because I ate the diet. I give up!

Are We Doomed?

Far worse than the new discoveries about the dangers of the diet foods and drinks are the accusations being made by certain soft drink people against the sugar industry and its lobbyists.

Said a representative of a soft drink industry, in so many words: "This new cancer scare in diet foods and drinks is being pushed by the sugar industry because they lost about $80,000,000.00 in sales as a result of the popularity of the artificial sweeteners."

Ye gads! If our country has gotten so money-hungry that some smart lobbyists can influence our appetites with the fear of death, we're in one heck of a mess.

Do you suppose the chewing gum people have started this cancer scare about smoking just to sell more chewing gum?

Lord have mercy. What a way to make a buck!

Dr. Pickering Ain't Ignorant!

Roy Pickering came in the News office last week to get extra copies of the News to send to kith and kin. I remarked about the inconceivable amount of learning and honors Dr. Paul Pickering had received and Roy said it reminded him of something one of Paul's children told him.

"Dad," said the young fellow, "I wish you wouldn't keep on going to school. People will think you're too stupid to learn or to pass."

Dr. Paul Pickering has achieved the ultimate honor in his profession as a plastic surgeon, so it seems to me he caught on to his books somewhere along the line.

How's This For An Idea?

The City of Aurora, Ind., has hired C. W. Kirk Associates, of Indianapolis, industrial consultants, to help attract business to Aurora and neighboring areas, Mayor William Spencer announced. The Kirk firm is headed by C. W. Kirk, former head of the Indiana Department of Commerce.
